By Any Other Name: KMi to Become KMI Learning

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Columbus, Ohio, February 14, 2014 –Joel Copeland, the spokesperson for KMi announced this week that the company will officially be changing its name to KMI Learning as of February 14, 2014.

Joel explained that the new name would reflect the evolving focus and services of the company, adding, “ For many years, we have provided a broad array of services to enable corporate clients to create, implement and deliver outstanding learning programs. We felt our previous name did not fully communicate who we truly are, what we mean to our clients and where we are going in the future. ”

KMI Learning, headquartered in Columbus, OH, provides clients with all the expertise and technology they need to create, deploy, market and manage great outward-facing Online Academies and inward-facing employee learning programs.

This name change does not indicate a change in services or quality but rather provides clarity around the Company’s vision and client services.
